HELPS FOR THE HOUSEHOLD

HOME REMEDIES THAT CURE PRICKLY HEAT.

Diet, as well as external applications must be used when prickly heat affects the body. For whatever heats the blood will increase the intense discomfort of this irritation. But however much soda and subacetate of lead may be applied it will be inefficacious until a restricted regimen has been adopted.

Any liquid containing alcohol, in however small proportion, must be given up. And heavy meats, such as beef, mutton and pork, must not be touched. Rich food that is not easily digested, by which is meant gravies, pastries, etc., are to be banished, and in their stead, fish, poultry, raw eggs, non-starchy vegetables, fruit, except bananas, and thin soups should be taken.

Indigestion will aggravate the irritation, and care must be taken that the liver performs its functions.

Cooling Drinks.
A drink that is cooling to the blood is cream of tartar water, which may be taken several times a day, sipping it slowly. A small teaspoonful of the powder is put into half a pint of cold water. Not more than three glasses of this liquid should be taken, and these must be drunk five or six hours apart.

Nothing is more cooling and refreshing as an external application than a bicarbonate of soda. A heaping teaspoonful put into half a pint of water makes a lotion that can be used all the time, allowing it to dry on the skin. In cases of extreme itching a soda bath will be a relief.
About two pounds of bicarbonate is put into a tub of tepid water deep enough to cover the entire body. In this the person may stay for fifteen or twenty minutes. Such a bath should be taken not often, but once a day. A dilute solution of subac-etate of lead is also cooling. Two teaspoonfuls are added to half a pint of water and the skin bathed frequently. Vinegar and water, one-quarter of the former to three-quarters of the latter, is also cooling.

Two other mixtures are recommended by physicians. One is made from four ounces of lime water and one-half an ounce of benzoated cala-mine, well shaken and applied to the skin with a soft muslin. The other is half an ounce each of saturate of bismuth and carbonate of zinc. It must be well mixed and dusted on thickly.

Powders Are Often a Panacea.

Powder, used extravagantly, is a panacea, and no person who is stout should fail to apply it thickly before dressing. Any part of the body where there is friction of the skin should be lightly covered with cold cream, which causes irritation, and then covered with some simple powder. Talcum may safely be used, and if one is so fortunate as to be at home through the day where it may be done, the application should be repeated frequently. Many cases of prickly heat might be prevented were this method followed.

Remedies given here for elders are suitable for children and babies, except that the skin of the latter being more delicate the strength of the solutions must be lessened one-half. For babies soda water should be enough, following frequent bathe-ings with plenty of talcum powder put on with a bi-puff. In placing garments on the baby a little care to prevent creases should be exercised. Babies' clothes must be kept clean, for in this way they will be saved discomfort, which, if not prevented, frequently leads to fever and illness.—Margaret Mixer, N. Y.
Evening Telegram.

CURES FOR HEADACHES CAUSED BY HEAT.

When nervous headaches, that are sometimes an accompaniment of intensely warm weather, come a sufferer should try for a combination treatment that is both relaxing and stimulating to the nerves. In this method cooling the blood is not sufficient, although it is a help. For as a rule one reason for the pain is blood pressure on the brain, and therefore any remedy that will draw the blood from there should air in a cure. If one can put the feet into a hot bath, in which there is a teaspoonful of dry English mustard to a gallon of water, and let the extremities remain there for fifteen minutes, the effect is usually beneficial, but such treatment can only be taken by those who stay at home.

For the one who is downtown, and may be able to snatch only five minutes at a time, hot applications sometimes work wonders. Witch hazel compresses are both simple and efficacious. A tablespoonful of witch hazel and half a teaspoonful of the tincture of benzola should be put into a basin with half a pint of water as hot as can be borne. Into this a handkerchief or small towel is dipped until wet and is laid hot over the forehead and eyes. As the compress cools it should be wet again and put back for ten minutes at least, and more if there is time.

Benzoin and Witch Hazel Are Soothing.

The same mixture of benzoin and witch hazel is then put into half a pint of soda water, and cold compresses applied like the foregoing.
The benefit of this treatment lies in the fact that the first relaxes nerves and muscles, while the second tones them to normal.

Drinking a cup of hot water in which there is half a teaspoonful of bicarbonate of soda will sometimes be a tremendous relief when suffering from a hot weather headache.
Digestion does not always work when the thermometer is high, and food does not assimilate, and often in such cases, bicarbonate of soda will sweeten the stomach and so the head may cease to ache.

Baths Are in Amazonia Water.

A trained nurse recommended frequent bathing of the face in cold water, in which there is sweet spirits of ammonia, when suffering with pain in the head. Half a teaspoonful to an ordinary basin of water is the proportion, and in this the face is soaked, using a cloth for the purpose. It is tremendously refreshing, and is not harmful to the complexion. Indeed, to those who suffer from abnormal greasiness in summer, it will act as an astringent.
A cold cloth at the base of the brain is another simple method of relief. The compress should be folded, and laid across the neck, changing it as soon as the chill leaves.
The same kind of an application may be made on the wrist.

FREE TO ALL.

Editor Evening Bulletin—
In your Monday's paper you printed an article "Rest Rooms for Women" in which is the statement that Christian Science Reading Rooms are doing good work along this line, but that they are for members only.
The idea that they are for members only is a mistake, and I would be much obliged if you will correct it.
everywhere are public. Any one who wishes to enquire of Christian Science or to read its literature is free to go to them, and will be made most welcome.

Sincerely yours,
EDNA K. SCOTT.

JUDGE WOODRUFF.

Editor Evening Bulletin—
We were told yesterday by one of the inside, that his Honour had made himself "very popular indeed." In and about the famous Judiciary Building. Well! If the gentleman can compass all that, where are so many judges, lawyers and "hard cases" muttering about, we feel sure he can steer straight in any sort of trial. (At all-rates we, personally, are happy in winning one more name to our subscription list, making Judge Woodruff a friend of the little monthly.

EDITOR TIMES.

Sept. 2, 1926.
Mrs. Prescott of The Honolulu Times, will publish an early as well as a later book, pertaining to this Territory of Hawaii.

A cablegram yesterday announced the death at East Natiek, Mass., of Mrs. Charles Chatter, the daughter of Chief Justice Hartwell, who passed away on August 30. Mrs. Chatter before her marriage was Lottie Lee Hartwell. Chief Justice Hartwell was present at his daughter's deathbed, as were also her sisters Dorothy and Luette Hartwell and Mrs. A. T. Hartwell.

It was certainly a good messenger who brought the news to your house that Ayer's Sarsaparilla makes the blood "rich and red." This means so much to those who are thin, pale, feeble, weak, and nervous. After Ayer's Sarsaparilla has cured you, carry the glad message to a friend or neighbor.

Perhaps you suffer from the effects of a warm climate. Prolonged warm weather seriously impairs the strength of many people. The digestion is slow, and the liver becomes sluggish.
Impurities in the blood accumulate and cause that feeling of downhearted-ness and depression.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

is of the greatest use in such cases.
Its purifying, strengthening, and upbuilding properties will rid the blood of all impurities.

At each drug store, or by mail, Ayer's Sarsaparilla can be obtained.

There are many imitations.
Sarsaparilla.

Be sure you get "AYER'S."

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U.S.A.
